Alex Brand is a litigator and a member of Best Best & Krieger's Municipal Law practice group and the firm's Housing Law group. His litigation practice focuses on housing, environmental, and land use matters on behalf of public and private clients. Alex also has broad experience on general municipal litigation issues such as California Public Records Act, Brown Act and civil rights litigation matters. His litigation experience includes both state and federal court, at both the trial and appellate levels.

Housing

Alex's housing law experience includes complex litigation and transactional matters involving the housing element law, affordable housing agreements, builders remedy disputes and land use issues. Alex works closely with the firm's housing working group to advise clients on the litigation risks arising from rapidly changing state housing laws. Additionally, when necessary Alex is available to public agency clients to assist them in litigation arising from the various housing laws in the state.

Environmental

Alex's environmental law experience includes complex litigation and transactional matters involving the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act issues related the valuation and clean-up of contaminated property.
